

USE OF GENERIC OLIGONUCLEOTIDE MICROCHIPS TO DETECT PROTEIN-NUCLEIC ACID INTERACTIONS

ABSTRACT

[0083] Nucleic acids or proteins immobilized in a gel pad are interacting with a protein and the nucleic acid-protein and protein-protein interactions are characterized and measured. Large-scale, parallel measurements of these interactions can be examined to provide a powerful tool in elucidating interactions between proteins and nucleic acids.

10/22/2003 12:04:55